THE YEAR'S

— The State Legislature increased state aid for public libraries by appropriating $1,957,846 or fifty cents per capita. These funds were used to strengthen public library resources, purchase books and other library materials and to provide bookmobiles, books-by-mail, and other extension services.

— The U.S. Congress appropriated $1,119,784 in LSCA Title II funds for the renovation and construction of Alabama public library facilities. Fourteen public library construction projects were awarded.

— The Alabama Public Library Service initiated a statewide public relations campaign, "Round It Up At The Library," to promote increased awareness of the wealth of information available in pubilc libraries.

— 23,000 children in grades one through six solved reading mysteries by participating in the Alabama Statewide Summer Reading Program. APLS provided "Super Sleuth" materials for the state's public libraries to use in their local programs.

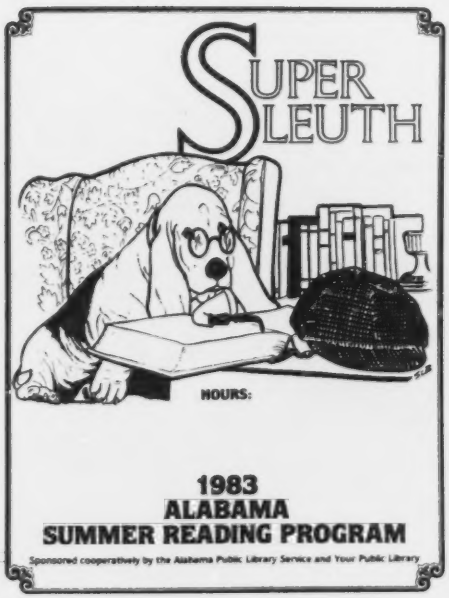
HIGHLIGHTS

— Honeywell, Inc. installed a Honeywell DPS 6/48 minicomputer to enable APLS to make use of the most efficient computer technology for APLS functions. The minicomputer supports word processing, records processing, electronic spreadsheets and also provides access to the IBM 3081 Computer at the State Data Center to support the circulation functions of the Division for the Blind and Physically Handicapped.

— The Friends of Alabama Libraries (FOAL) raised $6,000 to be used to increase awareness of the importance of public libraries in the daily lives of all Alabamians.

— The National Endowment for the Humanities awarded the Coalition for the Preservation of Alabama Newspapers a $10,000 planning grant to begin work to identify, catalog and preserve Alabama's newspapers. The Alabama Public Library Service is one of eleven members of the Coalition.

LIBRARY DEVELOPMENT



The Library Development Division of the Alabama Public Library Service works with local public library boards, librarians and elected officials of county and municipal governments to improve existing library services and to extend service where none exists. Library development consultants visit local libraries to provide advice and assistance on management techniques, budget formulation, long-range planning, program evaluation, and expansion of library service. APLS consultants assist in local workshops for staff development, participate in regional continuing education activities and oversee statewide library programs.

To promote increased awareness of public libraries and the wealth of information they make available for the people of Alabama, APLS sponsored a statewide public relations campaign. In January, 1983, "Round It Up At The Library" burst onto television screens and radios throughout the state. Over 100 billboards announced "We're Working...to win you over...Alabama's Public Libraries." The combined use of billboards and public service announcements highlighted the important role of the public library in providing ready access to information needed in the daily lives of Alabamians.

During 1983, Library Development administered the awarding of $2,880,509 in federal and state aid grants to local public libraries. These grants were distributed on a per capita basis for state aid. Federal funds were awarded for projects that met the goals of the federal grant program. For the first time since 1973, funds were made available under LSCA Title II for public library construction. Administering these grants required a great deal of staff time.

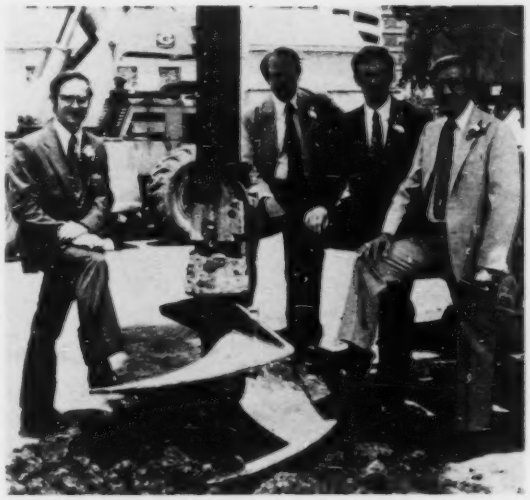
Library Development coordinated the Alabama Statewide Summer Reading Program by supplying printed materials, bibliographies, and planning assistance for local public library programs. Public libraries participating in the 1983 program, "Super Sleuth," reached over 23,000 children in grades one through six.

To insure an adequate number of professionally trained librarians are available to meet the state's public library staffing needs, APLS again offered scholarships for graduate study at a library school accredited by the American Library Association. Three students who received $5,000 scholarships for full-time study agreed to work in an Alabama public library for two years after they receive their degree. Four part-time scholarships in the amount of $750 each were awarded to current employees of Alabama public libraries to enable them to complete their graduate education.

Library Development consultants assisted the Monroe County Library with its successful application for a National Endowment for the Humanities Challenge Grant in the amount of $100,000. The library must match each grant dollar with three locally-raised dollars to complete the renovation of a building for the public library. Three public libraries moved into new and renovated facilities: Baldwin County Library System headquarters, Alabaster Public Library and the Silas Branch of the Choctaw County Library. New public libraries were also established in Courtland, Hoover and Pine Hill.

Children's librarians from public libraries throughout the state also participated in the Children's Book Review and Examination Program. In 1983, publishers of children's books sent 1,763 new children's books valued at $14,462 to APLS for review. Children's librarians reviewed the titles and met quarterly to discuss selections for addition to their own public library collection. At the end of the year, these children's books were given to the public libraries participating in the review program.

In the summer of 1983, APLS inaugurated a new continuing education concept, the Alabama Library Management Development Program. A two-year series of regional workshops, the program concentrates on management principles and practices and their application to libraries. Librarians who complete all four courses receive a certificate and credit for continuing education units from Auburn University at Montgomery. Regional workshops were also offered in Evergreen, Montgomery, Tuscaloosa, Decatur and Anniston on "Programming for Very Young Children" and in Butler on reference services. APLS also paid registration fees for twenty public librarians to attend a seminar featuring nationally-known media consultant, Arch Lustberg, on making effective public presentations.



Alabama Public Library Service funded two interlibrary cooperative systems as three-year pilot projects. In 1983, the Alabama Library Exchange (ALEX) and the Pioneer Alabama Library System (PALS) started their third year of operation. These systems have voluntary membership of college and university, public community libraries, school libraries, and special libraries.

"As far as I'm concerned taking advantage of participation and the opportunities presented by the system are a professional obligation." (A school superintendent speaking to school media librarians)

In multitype library systems, members call on all types of libraries nearby for help. The ALEX Comprehensive Directory of Library Resources describes the collections of each member library—so requests can be made to the library most likely to have what is needed.

Finding magazine articles can be difficult and magazines are so expensive that most libraries can only subscribe to a few of the titles they need. ALEX and PALS created a list of the current titles held by their members. Nearly 10,000 unique titles in over 100 libraries are included. Next, the interlibrary cooperative systems will add the holdings in each library for each title. These union lists will enable libraries to borrow from each other copies of articles they need for their patrons.

"I went into this activity with an open mind—but had some questions. This far into the project, I think of it like I do a Xerox machine, I don't know what I did without it." (Regional public librarian)

If a patron needs information that isn't in his local library, the Systems offer back-up reference service that will tap the resources and expertise of other system members, other libraries in the state—and if necessary to answer the question—libraries throughout the nation. Answers or books—a full-time reference librarian is available to handle difficult questions to give each member library's patrons the information they need.

"Thank goodness we've (the school system) finally gotten started in the system. Now that we're working together I don't see any limit to the services and benefits. (School librarian).

Alabama's interlibrary cooperative systems help librarians with the tools and information needed to provide the best service possible. The remarks of some members demonstrate how useful the systems are in supporting local library development:

LSCA TITLE III PROJECTS

ALEX

The Alabama Library Exchange serves all types of libraries in DeKalb, Etowah, Jackson, Lawrence, Limestone, Madison, Marshall and Morgan counties. It is governed by a Board of Trustees elected from the representatives of each participating library. Members of the Board are:

Mr. William A. Owens, Chairman
Mrs. Anna Ruth Campbell
Dr. Mary Jane Caylor
Dr. Richard Hartman
Mr. Edward S. Johnson
Dr. Byron B. Nelson, Jr.
Mr. Lee Pike, Coordinator

PALS

The Pioneer Alabama Library System serves all types of libraries in Colbert, Fayette, Franklin, Lamar, Lauderdale, Marion, Pickens, Tuscaloosa, Walker and Winston Counties. Representatives of each library elected the Board of Trustees to govern the system. Board members are:

Dr. Boyce Albright, Chairman
Mr. Herbert Harris
Mr. Joe McCluney
Mr. Ernie Elliott
Mr. Earl Evans
Dr. Roger Handley
Dr. Malcolm Portera
Dr. Joe Acker, Coordinator

Systems share-when your library doesn't have a particular item, how do you find it? In the interlibrary cooperative systems, members call on nearby libraries for help. A Comprehensive Directory of Resources describes the collections and other resources of the members of the Alabama Library Exchange....Finding magazine articles is difficult and magazines are so expensive that most libraries can only subscribe to a few titles. The Systems have created a list of the current titles held by their members. Next, the Systems will add the individual holdings (volumes and issues) to each of the titles....To help build collections in needed subject areas, the Alabama Library Exchange offers cooperative collection development grants to its members. The System matches money made available by member libraries to add materials to their collections....If special materials are owned by a library that is not normally available for the public, System members give their patrons an INFOPASS—on-site privileges to use a unique library collection. Librarians are alerted by the INFOPASS that the patron is not a regular user of their library, has a special request, and may need extra assistance....If the information you need isn't in your library, the System's back-up reference service will tap the resources and expertise of System members, other libraries in the state—and if necessary to answer the question—libraries throughout the nation. Answers or books—a full-time reference librarian is available to handle questions....Systems offer toll-free communication via "circle dial" telephone service. Call headquarters or call each other—the cost of the call is a System service. Systems help local libraries—public community libraries, school libraries, college and university libraries, special libraries—serve their patrons better.

Photocopy requests received	830	Filled	765

1983 continued a trend of increases in requests for the services offered by APLS through its Library Operations Division. In the Reference Department, the overall public library requests increased by 19% and state employee requests increased by 35%. Circulation in response to these requests increased by 20%. This year 83% of the requests received were answered by using the APLS collection without use of interlibrary loan—an improvement over the 78% of requests which were handled in-house last year. To meet demand for reference services, the staff concentrated on improving utilization of staff time and improving access to information through greater use of online services. Use of the online databases through the Bibliographic Retrieval Services (BRS) increased by over 3,000%. The addition of "Search Helper" on a microcomputer for online access to the Magazine Index and the National Newspaper Index aided in maximizing use of staff time.

The APLS current awareness service, COPIC, was reorganized to insure that decision-makers at the state level have access to information needed for their jobs. COPIC alerts Legislators and state employees to current materials in their fields of expertise and assists them in borrowing the items through APLS.

The Technical Services Department concentrated on insuring greater and more efficient access to the resources of APLS. Activities included developing a serials holdings list, clearing most of the cataloging backlog, beginning to add periodical holdings records to OCLC, and use of a microprocessor to edit the ALICAT and MICROCAT databases. ALICAT, the Alabama Interlibrary Catalog, is the state's union catalog which displays the holdings in 102 libraries throughout the state. MICROCAT is the microfiche edition of the APLS catalog which is distributed to 27 regional libraries and 18 state departments to make it easier for them to use the APLS collection. For additions to the collection, APLS purchases averaged $23.18 per title.

DIVISION FOR THE BLIND AND PHYSICALLY HANDICAPPED

The Division for the Blind and Physically Handicapped provides direct library and information services to visually and physically handicapped Alabamians. Patrons of the Division borrowed 46,006 recorded discs, 62,846 recorded cassettes, and 3,339 braille volumes in 1983. To insure that Alabamians have access to materials not recorded nationally, volunteers donated 2,000 hours to record additional titles for the patrons of the Division.

Number of Active Readers:	3,935
Number of Recorded Disk Titles	6,470
Number of Cassette Titles	12,950
Number of Braille Book Titles	5,350

AUDIO-VISUAL DEPARTMENT

Requests to borrow 16mm films from the APLS film collection continued to grow throughout the state. There were 18,729 circulations of films shown 38,861 times to a reported audience of 1,382,174 Alabamians—an increase of 21% over the previous year. The film collection contains 3,282 films, including duplicate prints.

FRIENDS OF ALABAMA LIBRARIES

The Alabama Public Library Service has worked closely with the Friends of Alabama Libraries (FOAL) and the Alabama Library Association for the improvement of libraries in Alabama

The Friends of Alabama Libraries sponsored a Fun Golf Tournament to raise funds for its efforts to promote support for public libraries. Golfing skills were secondary as foursomes of Legislators, civic leaders, library supporters, and librarians vied for the advantage in the face of trick shots at each hole. The tournament was successful—in spite of overcast skies and muddy fairways—and earned FOAL $6,000 for its efforts to promote an awareness of the importance of public libraries.

The Alabama House of Representatives and the Alabama Senate recognized members of FOAL and the Alabama Library Association at the Library Legislative Day. Distinctive coffee mugs, bearing the national library logo and the FOAL name, were presented to each legistlator.

COOPERATIVE PROGRAMS

Alabama Humanities Resource Center

The Alabama Humanities Resource Center is sponsored cooperatively by the Committee for the Humanities in Alabama and the Alabama Public Library Service. The Committee is the state-based organization which awards grands under the auspices of the National Endowment for the Humanities. The current grant in the amount of $37,550 covers the salaries and expenses of the Resource Center. An additional grant of $3,000 will purchase films in the areas of language and linguistics. APLS provides "in-kind matching" in the form of office space, services, use of APLS equipment, and use of the skills of the APLS staff. Over the past four years, the Committee has granted APLS $220,555 for the operation of the Humanities Resource Center.

The Humanities Resource Center promotes services and materials available for public programming in the humanities. It has continued to add videotapes, slide shows, exhibits and films to its resources. In 1983, the Resource Center exhibits were displayed in over seventy locations and were viewed by more than 180,000 Alabamians. Public libraries are the largest user of the Center's programming materials, films, and exhibits.

Alabama History and Heritage Festival

Eleven agencies in Montgomery formed the Humanities Alliance to conduct an Alabama History and Heritage Festival in Montgomery during May, 1983. Cosponsors of the Festival were four state agencies: Alabama Public Library Service, Bureau of Publicity and Information, Department of Archives and History, Council for the Arts and Humanities; two universities: Auburn University at Montgomery and Alabama State University; three Montgomery organizations: Landmarks Foundation, Montgomery Area Chamber of Commerce, and the City of Montgomery Historical Development Commission; and one federal agency: Maxwell Air Force Base. The Committee for the Humanities awarded $40,000 which was matched by "in-kind" contributions of the Alliance members and other donated services in the amount of $102,060. The Festival presented twenty public programs and displayed nine exhibits to help Alabamians become aware of the resources available for learning about Alabama's history and cultural heritage.

Coalition for the Preservation of Alabama Newspapers

The Coalition for the Preservation of Alabama Newspapers whose members include the Department of Archives and History, Alabama Public Library Service, Council of Librarians of the Alabama Commission on Higher Education, Association of County Commissions, Alabama Press Association, Alabama Library Association, and the Society of Alabama Archivists was formed in 1983 to develop a statewide plan to catalog and preserve Alabama's newspapers. The National Endowment for the Humanities awarded the Coalition a $10,000 planning grant under its U.S. Newspaper project. The Coalition developed three products as a result of its planning activities: a bibliography of resources related to Alabama newspapers, a listing of Alabama newspaper titles, and a listing of repositories holding Alabama newspapers. The Coalition now plans to undertake a statewide project to conduct a comprehensive survey of newspaper holdings in Alabama, compile bibliographic data about all newspaper titles, enter the data into the CONSER database on OCLC, prepare for the preservation of extant titles, and assure access to newspapers by scholars and the general public. A grant to support these activities has been requested from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

ALABAMA PUBLIC LIBRARIES STATISTICAL REPORTS

Alabama's public libraries reported a slight increase in resources in Fiscal Year 1983. The total number of volumes reported was 5,987,974 or 1.54 volumes per capita. Non-book materials, including films, phonorecordings, microforms and other non-book items, were reported as 647,908 items. The portion of funds expended for library materials, both book and non-book, remained the same as last year, 13%. Overall growth in library collections was slight.

Local governments appropriated 73% of the receipts reported by public libraries with 7% of this amount attributed to General Revenue Sharing funds. State aid and LSCA account for 11% of the total receipts. State aid was disbursed at $.45 per capita for a total of $1,752,249. Total federal sources, including LSCA, CETA, General Revenue Sharing and other special grants, accounted for 10% of the total receipts.

Since public libraries are service organizations, the major portion of expenditures was for personnel costs which includes salaries, wages, and the cost of fringe benefits. Personnel costs were reported as $14,242,172 which represents 63% of total expenditures.

Operating costs were reported by the public libraries as 19% of the total expenditures. Capital outlay increased over last year and accounted for 5% of the total expenditures. No state funds were available for construction. LSCA construction grants, awarded in Fiscal Year 1983, are not reflected in 1983 expenditures.

DEFINITIONS FOR STATISTICAL TABLES

The annual report of the Alabama Public Library Service includes general library statistics for the year October 1, 1982 through September 30, 1983. Public library statistics are listed in alphabetical order. Regional public libraries are listed first, with member libraries listed under them. Public libraries that are not members of a region follow. State of Alabama totals conclude the tables.

Financial reports are from unaudited accounts. Receipts and Expenditures were not required to balance for this statistical report.

Population reports are from the 1980 Census population of the area legally served by the library.

Total Staff in FTE includes all full-time and part-time staff. A full-time equivalent is computed on a thirty-five or more hours work week. Part-time staff is expressed as a decimal fraction of one.

Finances are reported in dollars. Standard rounding at $ .50 was used to eliminate cents in the entries.

Local Government Receipts are the revenues received from all local government sources The value of services provided by a local government, but not charged to the library treasury, is included when a local government provided the actual cost of the service for this report.

General Revenue Sharing funds are included in Local Government.

Other includes funds for personnel under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA).

Wages and Salaries reports include fringe benefits such as the employer's contribution to insurance, social security, retirement, etc.
